

Active Threat

MINDSET!

Your body will not allow you to go where your mind hasn't already been. PREPARE!

RUN, if possible -

- ▶ Help others along the way - Tell to run, too. May not have created their own plan.
- ▶ Leave your personal belongings, except cell phone, if easily accessible

Hide, if probable

- ▶ If in an office, consider staying inside. Barricade! If door closing mechanism on top of door, wrap belt around it. Harder to open.
- ▶ On first floor and have windows? Buy window punch for $3 and throw in drawer.
- ▶ If shooter were outside, is there a way to cover your windows or somewhere to hide? If no furniture, hide closest to window/door. Hardest place to see you.
- ▶ Cover - Behind something that will hide you and protect from bullets
- ▶ Concealment - Just hides you, but no protection
- ▶ Car - Basically just concealment. Handgun rounds will go through one door and out the other. Engine block and possibly tires could stop bullet.
- ▶ Remain calm. QUIET IS KEY! To calm another - physical touch is the most important thing.
- ▶ SILENCE CELL PHONE!

Fight, if necessary

- ▶ Think of what you can improvise into a weapon.
 - Cup of hot coffee
 - Fire extinguisher
 - Pen
 - Chair
 - Scissors

Calling 911

Information needed:

- ▶ Location of the shooter
- ▶ How many shooters
- ▶ Physical description of shooter - As descriptive as possible
- ▶ Number and type of weapons (pistol vs. long gun)
- ▶ Number of potential victims

When Law Enforcement Arrives

- ▶ Raise your hands, spread your fingers, cell phone OUT of hands
- ▶ Avoid quick movement
- ▶ Comply with what they tell you
- ▶ Safest to leave in the direction Law Enforcement just came from
